

PRIVACY POLICY

Sanctuary Recruitment Pty Ltd understands the importance of National Privacy Principles (Privacy Act 1988) and is committed to ensuring the privacy of personal information. The following Company Privacy Policy Statement explains how we manage your personal information in accordance with the Privacy Act (1988).

Our Primary Business Function

Sanctuary Recruitment is a specialist Healthcare recruitment firm. The collection, management and use of personal information is crucial to the successful running of our business and delivery of service to our clients and candidates alike.

Your privacy is important to us and we respect the confidentiality of your personal information. The aim of our web site is to provide you with information on our company and services and on selective career opportunities that we represent. It also provides a means for you to communicate with us. We use the following guidelines to protect any information you provide to us through this site:

- Any personal information provided by you is used solely for the purpose of assessing your suitability for career opportunities with our clients
- We do not pass any personal information to other people or organisations without your express permission
- We protect your privacy by restricting access to your personal information to only those staff who need it
- We do not sell or give to other people or organisation any list containing your personal information
- You have the ability to update or modify any personal information you have provided at any time
- If you are not appointed to the role that first introduces us, we will retain your details for future suitable vacancies. Of course, you may request that we do not retain your application details or consider them for any future vacant positions
- This web site does not use cookies nor in any other way track your browsing activities

Collection of Information

At various stages during the recruitment process we will need to collect personal information from you in order to assess your suitability for job opportunities with our clients. This may include personal information provided in your application (including resume, covering letter and qualifications) and details given during the interview process whether it is by telephone, face to face, or by video conference. With your permission, personal information may also be collected through reference checks from previous employers. For some positions, you may be asked to complete a psychometric assessment, or other assessment tool.

There may be occasions when we obtain personal information about you from a third party; for example, from your nominated referees; when receiving the results of a psychological or competency test; or obtaining performance feedback about your work. If we don't have your prior consent, we will take reasonable steps to inform you that we have collected this personal information.

Use & Disclosure

Personal information is collected during the recruitment process for the purpose of assessing your suitability for job opportunities we represent. This obviously will include the provision of information to clients for the purpose of assessing your application.

If you are not appointed to the role that first introduces us, we will retain your details for future suitable vacancies. Of course, you may request that we do not retain your application details or consider them for any future recruitment vacancy.

If we engage third party contractors to perform services for us which involves handling personal information we take reasonable steps to prohibit the contractor from using personal information except for the purposes for which it was supplied.

Access to your information

You are entitled to access personal information we hold about you and to amend that information if it is incorrect, by written request. We will provide you with access to your personal information upon request; you may arrange a time to visit our office and view the relevant documentation.

We may refuse to amend, delete or change your personal information and we will provide you with a reason for our decision. We will however, make note of what information you dispute and your requested changes.

There are some exceptions where information will not be made available. This may include information provided by your referees - unless we have their consent to make information available to you. We will always gain your permission before contacting any referee. Other exceptions include evaluative information relating to the methodology used to make a recruitment decision, including interview guide skill matrices, reports or feedback from psychometric assessments and other assessment tools. In these cases, general comments on the reasoning behind the decision will be provided instead.

Security of Applications

Any personal information provided to us is stored securely, and is only able to be accessed by those parties involved in the recruitment process.

Your personal information may be stored in hardcopy or electronically. We have security procedures in place to protect your personal information. Any unwanted hardcopy (printed) personal information is disposed of via a professional security shredding/destruction service.

Sanctuary Recruitment does not accept responsibility for the security of information while it is being transmitted to us over the Internet.